Boston's Hotel Commonwealth unveiled its Baseball Suite on April 4, 2010: Opening Day at Fenway Park. This summer, be among the first to treat your favorite baseball fan to an unforgettable night surrounded by memorabilia in this posh, two-room suite furnished with Oriental rugs, a leather steamer trunk, custom-designed leather wingback chairs, antique brass floor lamps, a 50-inch plasma TV and more than 40 classic baseball films on DVD. Highlights of the art and collectibles on display include vintage trading cards featuring Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Ted Williams, Johnny Pesky and Jackie Robinson and a 1967 Boston Red Sox vs. St. Louis Cardinals World Series program. The nightly rate is based on Hank Aaron's career home run record: $755.
